A Sad Death. The announcement of the death of Mrs. Heekett, wife of Capt. Tom Heskett, one of the well-known and popular quartette of Baltimore and Ohio conductors running the "Daley Limited" trains between here and Chicago, will cause general sorrow among the many friends the young couple possessed. The death occurred at an among the many friends the young couple possessed. The death cccurred at an early hour yesterday morning at the cosy home on South Front street that Mr. and Mrs. Heskett occupied soon after their marriage, scarcely more than a year ago. The bereaved husband will have the profound sympathy of not only a large circle of warm friends here, in the city but that of friends all along the line between here and Chicago. Mrs. Heskett was formerly Mies Lillie Reilly, and her home before coming here, was in Barnesville. Her remains will be taken there this morning for interment.

Big Sate of Coke.

The Marmet Coal and Coke Company, of Cincinnati, recently contracted with the Board of Trustees of the city gas works for the purchase of about 50,000 bushels of coke that have accumulated in the yards of the works in East Wheeling, and to-day the work of loading the same into a barge will be commenced. The Marmet company sent up a large barge last week, and it was moored slongide the piling north of the Pittsburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky freight house, that holds the made ground between the brick incline and the river. Yesterday Superintendent. made ground between the brick incline and the river. Yeaterday Superintendent Darrah, of the gas works, was busy with a force of men building a platform on which to back earls, and a chite, down which the coke is to be shot into the barge. below. The terms of the sale were that the Trustees were to load the barge. The price at which the coke was sold is report-ed to have been a low one.

HE SIDES WITH HENRY GEORGE. A Former Wheeling Newspaper Man Give His Views.

Mr. John R. Danlsp, formerly of Wheeling, now of Louisville, Ky., who has been spending a day or two with his old friends here, returned home last evening. He is editor of the Wine and Spirit Review at Louisville. As usual he is a lively and entertaining conversationalist. He says that the coming question is the labor question, and incidental to that is the land question, as expounded by Henry George, in whose views he thoroughly believes. A reporter of the INTELLIGNECER asked him for a statement of his understanding of those views. Well, said he, it is that land should be made accessible to every human being by discouraging all speculative holding of it. To this end land values should be taxed to such an extent as to induce every man who will not utilize land to sell it to somebody who will. Taxes should be laid on land and on land alone. These taxes thus laid will distribute themselves over the whole body of Louisville. As usual he is a lively and tribute themselves over the whole body of alone. These taxes thus laid will distribute themselves over the whole body of society.

When asked just how these taxes would distribute themselves he said it would be in the shape of rents. Everybody had to own a house or live in one owned by somebody else. Everybody had to raise something to eat or buy from some one who did raise something. If all land was taxed up to its full value it would be got out of dead hands and made productive. There would be no speculation. No vacant of the would be no speculation. No vacant in Wheeling or elsewhere, held by people who would not improve them, but were waiting for some one else to make them valuable. It would thus be made undesirable for people to hold unimproved property. It would throw open alt such land to the universal public, er, in other words, to those were willing to utilize it, and then we should see a great amelioration in the social condition of the country. The reporter had to confess that the modus operandi of all this did not seem very clear from these premises. "Well," said the old Sunday Leader representative, "if you will only invest in a twenty cent condition of the country, of the district's local fund.

That Hard Cider Case.

There was heard in Police Court yesterday morning the case of John Good, the man who keeps the little shanty confectionery in North Wheeling, near Jonathau's ravine, and who was charged with selling hard cider without a license, which is contrary to a city ordinance. The case was brought to the attention of Chief Smith by a petition signed by Louis Serig, William Karrell, Martin Karrell, Henry Serig, Frederick Hoffman, George Seamon, William Hartenstein, Daniel Arndt, F. C. Singell, George Otto, Henry Mannera, David Bell, John Rodgers, Peter Gundling and William Torner, which was presented to Council, that body being requested to require the Board of Public Works to abate the place as a nuisance.

The Clark Murder Trial.

The trial of Elmer Clark, of Elm Grove, who murdered "Pudgay" O'Neill, of this cily, about two months ago, the particulars of which are doubtless still fresh in the public's mind, is est for May 11, Wednesday of next week, and it is thought that the trial will be proceeded with without any delay. In case the accused shall not be ready to stand a trial, he is required, under the law, to notify the Prosecuting Attorney to that effect ten days before the time set for trial. Yesterday, this ten day limit expired. Prosecuting Attorney Jordan communicated with John O. Pendleston and Col. W. W. Arnett early in the day, and asked whether they would be ready on the 11th inst, to took after their client's case. They intimated they would, if ready on the 11th inst, to took after their client's case. They intimated they would, and Mr. Jordan proceeded to arrange for having subpenas issued. Clark is still in jail. It is probable that a plea of insanity orself-defense will be made by the defense, in the hope of getting off with a light sentence.

ber of years past, attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself in the head with a 32-calibre revolver; but in this he was not successful, the only damage done being in the nature of an ugly and painful wound in the back part of his head, notwithstanding that he fired three shots in attempting to make way with himself. He had been drinking heavily for a number of days past, and is reported to have had some trouble with his family. It is supposed that he was in a morose and despondent mood.

The place he selected as the scene of his contemplated self-murder was in an alley in the rear of Sheriff Handlan's resistents. People hearing the three shots reashed out and finding the drunken man lying in the dirt, a physican and the police were summoned. Dr. J. B. Reed happening to pass by, however, took charge of the case and took the man to police headquarters in his buggy, as he refused to allow anyone to take a him home. He shot himself back of the right ear, the ball passing downwards and a call with the right ear, the ball passing downwards and a call with the river. He is evidently 'badly off.'

There being no other place to put him, he was placed in the county jail yesterday alternoon, where he will remain until some better arrangement can be made for his keeping. He finally permitted his head to be washed and bandaged, but registers. BRIDGEPORT.

An Attempt at Sulcide-Damaged by th David Gartley, while confined in the city lockup yesterday, attempted to commit suicide by hanging. While an officer was attending to another prisoner, he noticed Gartley tearing his clothing into into strips, but after reprimanding him he into strips, but after reprimanding him he passed on. On his return he found him hanging to the bars, choking violently, and struggling to free himself. He unfastened the string and let him down. The prisoner seemed well satisfied with the turn the attempt had taken. He evidently was tired of life, and also of being locked up, and thought to end his existence by swinging himself cut of this life and the miseries of the bastlie.

A VIOLENT WIND STORM, About 5:30 o'clock last evening Ætna About 5:30 o'clock last evening Ætnaville was visited by a minature cyclone that caused considerable damage. There had been a strong breeze blowing all the afternoon, but shortly after 5 o'clock it grew to be a regular gale. The sky was darkened by heavy and lowering clouds that had a very threatening appearance; the sir was full of blinding clouds of dust. The citizens were somewhat alarmed and feared that their little village was to suffer a fate such as befel Martin's Ferry and St. Clairsville; but happily, this was not ee. The only damage of any note done by the Oralisation of the hopping can was not so. The only damage of any note done by the wind was the lifting off of about half of the roof of the new warehouse of the Standard Iron Company. The wind was followed by a scaking rain that did some additional damage.
